Introduction

This document lists restricted cargo types for each PrePass state. When approaching a PrePass facility, you must pull in if your cargo satisfies any of the restricted criteria listed for that state, even if you receive a green light on your transponder.

Please keep this pamphlet in your vehicle as a quick reference. Failure to voluntarily pull in when hauling restricted cargo may result in prosecution, fines, and/or suspension of bypass privileges.

If you do not receive a bypass signal, you must pull into the station.

Special Notes

Colorado:

(Dumont WB/EB, Ft. Collins SB, Lamar SB, Limon WB, Monument NB, Trinidad NB)
These ports have exits off the interstate before you reach the port. If you take this exit, you must report to the port when you reenter the interstate, even if you received a green light on your transponder.

Maryland:

Trucks receiving a red light must report to the static scale and disregard ramp sorter signals.

Montana:

Vehicles with a GVW of up to 132,000 lbs that have paid for their MT double GVW permit and 95 doubles permit and do not exceed site weight limits, such as bridge formula and axle requirements, are allowed to bypass.

Ohio and West Virginia:

An Alliance for Uniform Hazmat Transportation license is required if hauling hazardous materials/waste. Follow in-cab signal.

Disregard state signs to pull into weigh station.

Changeable Message Signs

*PrePass-equipped trucks should disregard electronic road signs.
Drivers are to follow the signal given by the in-cab device.*
